one distinguished archeologist will not admit they can be in any way human; he will have it that they were really the handiwork of the great European anthropoid ape of that early period. This, however, is nothing more than very delicate hair-splitting; for what does it matter whether you call the animal that fashioned these exceedingly rough and fire-marked implements a man-like ape or an ape-like human being? The fact remains quite unaltered, whichev-er name you choose to give to it. When

GRAND ARMY DAY.

Preparing for the Semi-Annual Encamp-ment of Ohio Ex-Soldiers Meeting of the Executive Committee. As comparatively few of our citizens have ever attended any of the summer encamp ments of the G. A. R., Department of Ohio, not many among us have a just conception o the magnitude of that great re-union of veterans of the War of the Rebellion which is to occur here August 6 and 7. As a matter of fact, in attendance and uniform interest for all classes, it will far excel the political gatherings of June and July and will be more of a test of the resources, hospitality and patriotism of the people here. Realizing the esponsibility resting upon them the Executive Committee of Mitchell Post, G. A. R., has started out early with the work of making preparations and held a large and business-like meeting at their ball last evening, Commander Penfield in the chair. A. O. Huffman was elected permanent secretary. The chairman presented a letter from General Hurst, of the C. of A. committee locating the encampment here, suggesting that all Ohio soldiers who tought at Gettysburg be invited to meet here August 6, which will be done.

The following assignments to chairmanships of committees for the reunion were mad-Finance D. W. Stroud. Camp, Camp Equipage, tents and straw, Colonel R. L. Kilpatrick Hotels, balls and headquarters, J. W. R. Cline. Reception of distinguished guests: Capt. A. S. Bushuell. Reception of G. A. R. Posts, W. H. Grant. Music and printing, A. O. Huffman. Wallace, Horses, T. E. Lott, Camp fire, R. F. Delo.

It was decided, on motion, to extend invitations to be present to the following named distinguished soldiers: Gen, John A. Logan, Gen. W. S. Hancock, Gen. R. B. Hayes, Gen. Durbin Ward, Gen. W. T. Some other matters connected with the posiness in hand were talked over without formal action being taken and the committee adjourned to meet again at call of the chair-man. The sub-committees, as above designated will be made up in the meantime and work begin at once. Following is the Gen-eral Order for Grand Army Day issued by Dept. Commander R. B. Brown, of Zanes-

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF OHIO, GRAND ARMY OF THE REPUBLIC. ZANESVILLE, O., May 23, 1885 J General Orders No. 7.

I. The Comrades of Ohio are to be con gratulated, heartily, upon the vigorous condi-tion of the Order, as disclosed by the first Quarterly Report of 1885. The unusual severity of the winter, widespread depression in commercial and manufacturing circles, the consequent scarcity of employment, and in many sections of our State almost universal destitution and suffering, suggested large losses in membership, but under these extra-ordinary circumstances, the Buckeys Department has still increased in every element of strength. The Grand Army, true to its strength. The Grand Army, true to its sacred obligations, has dispensed charity with a generosity unexampled in our history, and aresh demonstrated its claims upon the people as an active, benevolent factor, in caring for the sick and distressed, the widow and the orphas. The Department Commander, unspeakably grateful for the loyal devotion of officers and comrades to the duties enjoined upon us all, earnestly appeals to each member to keep the line moving stendily to the tront. Many thousands of the defenders of the Na ompanions in arms, are not epicying blessings of that comrade hip only found within our ranks, and thus deny themselves the pleasures which come of our association ogether. Let importunate invitations be ex tended to them to take positions on the from line, where all true soldiers were found in the hour of our country's peril. Recruiting should not cease with the ceremonies of Me-morial Day. Let the lotty lessons of that day of days be our incentive to renewe

II. It is desired that the numerical strength of the Department may be ascertained on the 10th of June, for a supplemental report to the National Encampment, to convene Portland, Maine, June 23d, 1885. Post Commanders will fill up the blanks on the postal card ac-companying these General Orders, and mail promptly to these headquarters.

III. By a resolution of the Akron Encampment, a semi-annual encampment of this De-partment, to be known as "Grand Army partment, to be known as "Grand Army Day," was authorized, and the purpose defined to be the cultivation of the spirit of fraternity. In accordance with that action, a committee of the Council of Administration has fixed upon the city of Springfield as the place and the Department Commander has designated Thursday and Friday, August 6 and 7, 1885, as the time. 1885, as the time. The comrades of Mitchell Post, No. 45, and the patriotic people of the 'Champion City' extend a traternal and cordial invitation to each Post to attend in a body. Thursday will be devoted to a General Reunion, and a Grand Army Parade will take place on Friday. The details will be an-aounced later in General Orders. Each Port will, at as early a day as practicable, appoint a committee to arrange for as large a repre-sentation as possible. Let us make this first Grand Army Day, the distinguished success which always characterizes any social venture challenging the best energies of Obio Soldiers and Sailors. A fraternal invitation is ex-tended to Mrs. Lottle L. Myers, President of the Department of Ohio, W. R. C., and through her to the ladies of the Department and each Cor, s, to participate in all the exer-cises incident to Grand Army Day. By com-

These gentlemen were met at the train by Mayor Goodwin and a number of our leading citizens who, after a short time allowed for introductions, conducted them to the north entrance of the Arcade where carriages were waiting to take the party on a tour of the city. Tue order in which the various shops and factories will be visited was published yester-

the efforts of several gentlemen connected with the Bloomington Pantagraph, and also to Mr. Webb, of the 1., B. & W. The object of it it to obtain a better knoweldge of our methods of manufacturing, with the idea that perhaps some hints may be picked up which can be used with advantage by their home manufacturers. In the case of the railroad magnates who accompany the party, some hopes are also indulged in with regard to increased shipments of freight. The day will be spent in visits to our various shops, and, at night, the excursionists will attend, in a body, the opera of the Naiad Queen, returning home on the mid-night train.

FATALLY CRUSHED.

Chas. P. Brownfield, of This City, Killed by Cars at Danville, Dis., Yesterday-Body Sent Here.

A telegram received here this morning by the killing of their nephew, Chas. P. Brownfield, who was run over by cars lest evening. at Danville, Ille., which is at the junction of the I. B. & W. with the C. & E. I. and other railroads. The remains will arrive here this evening for interment. The particulars of the sad and fatal accident have not been received at this writing, but it is known young Brownfield's legs were both cut off and that he only lived a short time. He was about eighteen years of age and the son of the late Dr. Brownfield, his widowed mother, living on Shaffer street, this city, being a daughter o John Funk, senior. He lett home here a week or ten days ago and started West to travel and perhaps locate. He was well-known here, having many companions of his own age. Further announcement will be made as to time for holding funeral services.

Funeral services over the remains of Chas-P. Brownfield will take place Friday at 2 o'clock p. m., from the residence on Shaffer street, between Main and Columbia. Priends are invited to attend.

It isn't many weeks since he suffered the loss of one of his best horses, and this week his fine brood, trotting mare, "Melrose," died at Sandusky, where she has been for some time. Melrose was worth $2,000, it is said, and was not insured. She was with foal, also, which would have been worth $300 or $400 almost as soon as born. The cause of death is not definitely known, as Mr. O'Brien is now in Sandusky. There have been quite a number of sudden deaths among fine horses here. Dr. Miller is re ported a loser, yesterday, of a valuable mare in that manner.

We, the pastor and members of Wiley Chapel, desire through your excellent paper to return our thanks to all the frien is that so generously loaned articles for our Loan Art Exhibition, May 15-25, inclusive.

DR. GEORGE: My Dear Friend—I would be a traitor to my own leedings if I failed to give you some lestimony of my gratitude to you, for what you have done for me. When you were called in to attend to my case, I was in a very critical and dangerous condition. Indeed, it was the opinion of every one who called to see me that I could not recover. Now I fully believe that your skill as a physician, and the close attention and good care which your kind heart gave me, alone averted the fastel termination of my case. My feet is and he a beau entirely healed for three weeks past; and is altogether free frem pain. Such is the happy nesult of your intelligent treatment of my case.
